A lawyer for a California man says his client has filed a lawsuit against a defrocked priest who admitted molesting dozens of children. Attorney Joseph George says the civil lawsuit filed Wednesday in San Joaquin County Superior Court accuses Oliver O'Grady of repeatedly sexually assaulting his client when he was 5.

George says the alleged acts took place at Turlock parish. The alleged victim, now 24-years-old, is not identified in the suit. The lawsuit is seeking unspecified compensation for what it terms "emotional scars."

O'Grady was deported to his native Ireland in 2000 after serving prison time on a 1994 conviction for molesting two brothers.

Stockton Diocese spokeswoman Barbara Thiella declined to comment on the lawsuit because the diocese has not seen the suit.

Lodi officers recognized

From left: Lodi Police Officers Eric Versteeg, Shad Canestrino and Ryan LaRue were recognized last week by Mothers Against Drunk Driving, the Office of Traffic Safety and the Northern Central Valley's "Avoid the 10" grant coalition for their efforts in removing drivers under the influence from the roadways. Also pictured is Sgt. Chris Jacobsen. The three officers were honored for each making more than 25 DUI arrests. The department has made 319 DUI arrests, and the three officers honored have made nearly one-third of those arrests.

As despicable and traumatic as these acts can be to a human being, I fail to see how money is going to help.

Doing the 'Monkey Mambo' for Week of the Young Child

Katie Butcher, left, who goes by the stage name "Mrs. Flutterbee," performs the "Monkey Mambo" alongside teachers and parents for preschoolers at Century Christian Preschool on Friday, April 8, 2011. As part of the Week of the Young Child, a week dedicated to raising awareness about the importance of early childhood education programs, the school hosted a performance by Mrs. Flutterbee. The interactive show uses dancing, singing and even jumping-jacks to help children learn about their own individuality and the alphabet.

WOWed by the museum
